Mr. Buckles

Mr. Euphrat

Mr. Strait

We have been fortunate, during the past year, in having a Board of Education composed of such prominent, civic-spirited men as these. Their administration has proved to be one unusually sympathetic to the varied school problems; consequently the 1935-1936 school year was a most successful and progressive one.

HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

Verily, the "house of a thousand eyes." Our affections have centered here during our high school years, and we leave with many regrets; but the ringing echoes through its halls will long remain in our memories.

SUPERINTENDENT

You enter the first year of high school full of enthusiasm and hope. Time passes rapidly; and before you are aware of it, graduation time has come. Many of the happenings would soon be forgotten if they were not recorded each year in printed form. This volume of the Retro will serve to preserve in your memory the friendships that were formed and a history of the events that transpired during the year nineteen hundred thirty-five and six. May it inspire in you a new sense of pride and a desire to achieve greater things.

H. P. Kelsay

PRINCIPALS

Seniors: As you leave these school halls, may success attend your endeavors.

May the lessons you have here learned in self reliance, values, and right attitudes be beneficial to you and serve to guide you in solving your daily problems. I trust the friendships you have formed here with teachers and classmates may be an inspiration to you, because these friends will be interested in your success. May you be happy in whatever vocation you choose, and leave the world a little better for your having lived in it.

J. B. Good

We often hear it said that the young person who gets ahead in the world is he who has ability, he who applies himself and trains his mind, that he may develop in himself the highest degree of efficiency.

Skill is, of course, extremely important if one is to succeed in his life's work; but one's life will be doomed to failure if he has not gained those traits of character which will make him courageous, trustworthy, honest, loyal, and sincere.

A worthy citizen in the community of workers must have a sense of the values implicit in a society where co-operative action directed toward social security for all is the basic characteristic of living.

SPONSORS

Miss Greene and Mr. Parks, as our class sponsors, have labored faithfully in our behalf throughout the last four years. They have met our problems fairly and squarely and have been a contributing factor to the success of the class. To them, the class of '36 wishes to extend its thanks for their sympathetic guidance of our student life.

OFFICERS

As successors to our junior class officers, we, as seniors, selected the following students to guide us through our last year together: Russell Williams, president; Patricia Bray, vice-president; Le Isle Jones, secretary; and Robert Overmyer, treasurer. Chosen for their outstanding ability in past years, this group functioned most efficiently to promote a successful ending to our high school career.

WE HONOR

JEAN FRAHM—Valedictorian

Jean, with her sweet disposition, quietly and completely won her place in the hearts of all her teachers, classmates, and friends. Her conscientious scholastic endeavor rightfully won for her the highest ranking honors of the senior graduating class.

JUNE GILBERT—Salutatorian

June, demure and unobtrusive, labored with the class through all four years of our high school work. With no thought of credit due or honors ahead, her enthusiastic interest and loyalty never waned. She deserves all that she has received.

JEAN

JUNE

The class of 1936 salutes you as our honor students; you who through your sincerity and activity have gained the highest ranking of our group.

HISTORY

Four years ago approximately one hundred and ten boys and girls entered the portals of the Hartford City High School. They idolized the upper classmen and hoped that someday, they, too, would be just as dignified and superior. Today we are seniors and have realized our hopes.

When our class of 1936 were freshmen, Miss Mary Greene and Mr. Colon Parks were appointed as class sponsors. During that year we chose our motto, "Continually striving to attain;" our class colors, red and white; and our class flower, the red rose. Our class officers were William Kunkle, president; Clyde Fulton, vice-president; Doyne Allen, secretary; and June Gilbert, treasurer. The social event of that year was a picnic at the Newbauer farm, south of the city.

In our sophomore year we elected Robert Risinger, president; William Howard, vice-president; Mildred Telle, secretary; and Helen Byrd, treasurer.

In the fall of 1934 as juniors and with the annual junior-senior reception to be planned and financed, we were soon aware that a busy year was ahead. The officers who guided us through that year were Stephen Leonard, president; David Buckles, vice-president; Justine Burk, secretary; and Joe Liniger, treasurer. In order to increase our treasury, we gave a musical comedy, "Sunny Skies," and sponsored two benefit shows. This year was brought to a close with our entertaining the seniors and guests with a banquet at the Methodist church and a dance in the new gym.

Upon entering the last lap of our high school course, the following class officers were elected: Russell Williams, president; Patricia Bray, vice-president; Lelsle Jones, secretary; and Robert Overmyer, treasurer. With the publishing of the Retro, we were busier than ever this year. That we might have funds to carry on our work, we sold subscriptions to Curtis Magazines and conducted the Retro Campaign in which we secured the highest number of subscriptions ever sold, six hundred fifty. A class play, "One Mad Night," was given in December, and a benefit show was also sponsored. The main social event was a carry-in dinner and a dance held in the old gym. Our happy year as seniors was brought to a close with the junior-senior prom given in our honor by the junior class.

Thus our class of seventy-seven members, having participated in class day, baccalaureate, and commencement, bids farewell to the Hartford City High School where we have spent many happy hours. In remembering our experiences and attainments of these brief years, we wish to reiterate with Tennysons' immortal Ulysses:

"We are a part of all that we have met;
Yet all experience is an arch where through
Gleams that untraveled world, whose margin fades
Forever and forever when we move."

Lelsle Jones.

POEM

THE LAST DAY

The day which we have reached at last
Is the day that we've looked for;
We've had the best in the years that are past,—
We could not ask for more.

But yet 'tis hard to express ourselves,
When the end of school is here,
When we must say good-by to all
To start on our life's career.

I know we've said that we'd be glad
When our school days were o'er;
But now I know it is not so—
I wish I'd known before. . . .

But there is work somewhere for us,
Yet we shall ne'er forget
The moments spent in Hartford High
And all the friends we met.

We'll never forget our own classmates,
The teachers, and the rest;
For our minds will always wander
To school days we loved the best.
Earl Tipsord.

SONG

Tune—"Song of the Vagabonds"

We are seniors now,
We have fought our battle—
Fought, fought, fought for Hartford High.
High school days are over,
Pastures not of clover,
Will be waiting for us there.
Mem-o-ries are dear to every heart—
We must leave thee. Gee, we hate to part.
Hartford High, we're grieving—
'Cause 'tis time for leaving,
Class of nine-teen thirty-six.

RALPH CHARLES BABBITT

Ralph has the makings of a good advertising man. He was chief blotter-peddler for his brother's insurance company.

DON BEDWELL

What liberty a loosened spirit brings! Don believed that nothing should be done today that could be done tomorrow.

DAVID BUCKLES

Lights! Action! Camera! and "Doc" has started another film through the motion picture machine for some class. Why not furnish the music also, Dave?

MAXINE BARNES

"Mac," one of our "candy kids," was always willing to assist the class in any way possible.

PATRICIA BRAY

"Pat" was our dignified Mrs. Finch in "One Mad Night." Her blonde locks might suggest a goldfinch.

JUSTINE BURK

If "Life is a Song," I'm hoping it won't be too "flat."

BETTY COOPER

A sweet disposition is just one of Betty's characteristics. She was one of our typists on the Retro Staff.

HELEN LUCILE BYRD

If Helen succeeds in becoming a nurse, who is going to pay for the thermometers her patients (male) will burst?

ROBERT C. CANADA

Tears never affect "Curly" as his heart is water-proof. This enthusiast was one of the sports editors of the Retro.

RALPH COOPER

Ralph, a most capable reserve on the Airedales, was our tall, brown-eyed boy from the country.

ROSE CECELIA CRALL

Rose has an artistic ability that is very difficult to excell. Some of her work adorns these pages.

JEAN FRAHM

Jean took four years of Latin and liked it—she must be a glutton for punishment.

MARTHA JEANNE EVERETT

Mart has been one of our classmates for only a short while, as she came all the way from Pennsylvania just to graduate with us.

RALPH CROMAS

Ralph is a student on the path of least resistance—between the office and room 9.

DICK DUCY

"Dick," with his enthusiasm and faculty for directing, surely put the Retro campaign over with a "bang." He aspires to be a basket ball referee.

DONALD FRAZIER

Donald is a quiet sort of lad. It must be that he saves his breath to cool his soup.

GEORGE ELZEY

"Orlie" surely has rhythm, and when we hear him whistle "I Wanta Lead a Band," we know he's not kidding.

CLYDE FULTON

"Lefty" was really a "hot dog" in athletics. He starred in basket ball, baseball and tennis.

LILLIAN DORTON

Lillian is small and quiet—but she doesn't have to talk, as her hair is red and speaks for itself.

BETTY JANE FLYNN

Betty developed an effective type of high pressure salesmanship while selling candy at the games.

LOUIS GUIGNARD

"Senator" believes that since all great men are conceited, he too has a right to be. He was one of the literary editors of the Retro.

RICHARD HALL

If you were tall, dark, and handsome, when could you begin to save money?

WILLIAM HOWARD

"Bill" never tires of talking about the time he was "snow-bound" in Michigan.

WILMA FUTRELL

Wilma is blonde, petite, and adorable. What more could we want?

MARTHA JEAN GARDINER

"Mart" is always in for a good time. She was on the Retro Staff and was a member of the Science Club.

JUNE GILBERT

June shared the red-haired dynasty with Lillian Dorton. She was on the Retro Staff.

CLELLA JEAN HARTUP

Jean's favorite flower was "Sweet William." Her time was shared with Betty and the Girl Reserves.

MARJORIE ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

So this is why "Gentlemen prefer blondes!" Marge was our heroine in "One Mad Night."

MILO JENKINS

It appears that this Airedale doesn't want to grow up—if one could judge by his preference for "little girls."

HARVEY KELLOGG, JR.

It is hard to believe that such a quiet boy as Junior could make such a noise on a French horn.

"Bert" likes "Solitude," but with her vim, vigor, and vitality she never gets any.

EILEEN LAMOTT

"Lee" is in for everything that is not mean, illegal, or fattening.

WILLIAM KUNKLE

"Bill's" hobby is spending money, and he hopes to establish a source of supply by becoming president of a bank.

WILLIAM LANDON

"Bill" is one of the few who took physics as a subject and not as a pastime.

JOHN LANNOY

"Beetle" declares that women are a specie for which he cares naught, but he does like to play baseball.

JESS LANDIS, JR.

What was the use of his studying when all those around him were doing that? To be a politician is his ambition.

ROBERT LAMOTT

"Bob" is one boy who makes your toes shine. He will be remembered as the villain in "One Mad Night."

DOROTHY MADELINE MARKIN

Dorothy and her car are inseparable. What would she have done if it hadn't been for those daily jaunts in to town?

GWENDOLYN NUTTLE

"Dony's" hobby is collecting movie stars. Who knows,— maybe some day she will collect a real one.

It seems that Chuck has a mania for breaking neon signs.

ROBERT MARSHALL

"Bob" has natural talent in combining pleasure with school-work, but it's hard for him to stay awake in physics class.

MARJORIE LOIS RISLEY

Fun and good times are a necessary part of one's education—and she's not so dumb!

FRANCES RITA SCHWARTZKOPF

"Fannie" believes in taking life "easy" so that she will live longer.

FERNE SILLS

"Blondie" likes to peck away on the typewriter—and how we did use her on the Retro Staff!

HILDRED SMITH

"Smitty" was one girl who knew her live stock. What a help she is going to be to someone!

MILDRED TELLE

Speech could never reveal the wonderful things Mildred thought, so she remained silent.

CLAYTON MEYERS

"Clayte" and his swagger were familiar to all. His favorite sports are trap-shooting and dancing. Some combination.

ROBERT McCOMBS

Bob, with the aid of his "alarm clock," was unofficial time keeper in all his classes. Undoubtedly he will be a chemist.

BETTY WILLIAMS

We usually know Betty is around when we hear that familiar giggle, but even Betty has her "Troubles."

CATHERINE E. WILLIAMS

"Kate" was a loyal classmate who was always willing to do her share.

CLAYTON O'CONNELL

"Clayte" was like the air we breathe: necessary but scarcely noticed.

ROBERT OVERMYER

"Cooky" was editor of the Retro, treasurer of his class, and president of the Hi-Y Club. And he filled all three offices well.

JOHN NOBLE

Even though noble Johnny wasn't classed with Weismuller, he did swim a mean stroke on the team.

RALPH O'CONNELL

"Spike's" pastime is looking around corners for prosperity. When he finds it, he will have lots of company.

JOSEPH OVERMYER

Romance is a necessary part of Joe's diet. More power to him.

BERNADINE WASSAM

Nothing is ridiculous to Bernadine. She can even "laugh through her tears."

ELLA MAE WENTZ

Ella Mae is a jolly girl, but she is inclined to keep it quiet.

ROBERT RISINGER

"Bean" is one of our stalwart Airedales. He thinks the correct degree of "longitude" and "lassitude" lies near Greenfield, Indiana.

CARL A. PARTLOW

"Pete" is a barber by trade, but in the spring he relieves the monotony by playing baseball.

ROBERT A. PURSLEY

"Bob" tried to prove that he had grown up by showing us the whiskers on his chin.

GILBERT SILLS

"Silsie" is not immune to blushing. He attributes this fact to his trying to reach the high notes on his harmonica.

LOUISE IRENE WILLMAN

This brown-eyed lass does not have to worry about the price of permanents — the curls are natural.

LEE FREDRICK SPRAGUE

"Freddie" may be small, but he has big ideas about succeeding in some unknown profession.

JOHN W. SPENCE

"Spencie" has still to be convinced that New Jersey is not the winter playground of America.

EARL TIPSORD

"Tippy" wrote free verse in a style all his own. He was the pint-sized catcher on the baseball team.

MAX TRUSSELL

"Trut" wonders what the world would be without sleep—or school, either, for that matter.

RUSSELL WILLIAMS

"Rut" may be last here, but in reality, he's at the "head" of his class.

VIRGINIA WILSON

"Ginny" openly declared that her favorite subject was Latin; consequently her interests centered largely in the Latin Club.

HELEN WORLEY

Helen tried to make us think she was bashful when she was only holding her tongue.

In the preceding pages you have seen reviewed, both as a class and individually, the seniors of '36. We have not been a particularly outstanding group, but some among us have achieved that intangible something, sought for by many but attained by such a few. Some have ranked high in the admiration and respect of the rest, but for the most part we are all of one standing. Just as a class is made by willing sponsors, competent leaders and conscientious servants, our was also. Thus we are not unlike those who have gone before. No matter how humble our contribution to school life nor how small our niche in the halls of fame of our dear alma mater, we sincerely hope that as we depart from the corridors and class rooms of this building to enter the portals of this changing world of affairs, the memory of our class will ever linger in the thoughts of those we leave behind.

OFFICERS AND SPONSORS

No one can deny that the greatest contributing factors to the success of any class are a corps of energetic, hardworking officers and a committee of interested, sympathetic sponsors. With our system, whereby sponsors are assigned to the freshman class to continue with them throughout the four years, much more opportunity for mutual understanding develops between both parties and culminates in a successful and delightful high school life.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Mr. Good has been at the head of our athletic department for six years. He is a graduate of Marion High School, Indiana Central College, and Indiana University. While at college he played two years of basketball, one year as captain of the team. Many fine teams have been developed since Mr. Good has been at Hartford City. The sectional has been won four times and the regional once; the one team going to the quarter finals at the state before being eliminated.

J. B. Good

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Don Dick

Esther Kelley

The boys' physical education department has been under the direction of Don Dick, who succeeded Paul Cly when he resigned to become head coach at Brookville. Mr. Dick is a graduate of Ball State Teachers College where he was outstanding in basketball, football, and baseball.

Miss Kelley, graduate of Ball State Teachers College, has been the director of girls physical education for the last four years.

While the girls do not participate in a program of varsity sports, intramural activities under her supervision are carried out throughout the year.

KIWANIS AWARD

The ninth annual Kiwanis Sportsmanship Award was presented to Clyde Fulton at the Senior Class Day Exercises held in the gymnasium Monday, May 18th. This year's winner is undoubtedly the popular choice of the student body and fans alike, for not only has he been outstanding in athletics, but his wholehearted cooperation and his unselfish attitude, coupled with his quiet endeavor in everyday life, have made him a host of friends.

PAST WINNERS

1928	Robert Marchal
1929	Clyde Babbitt
1930	Byron Huggins
1931	Harry Bohr
1932	William Pettit
1933	Kenneth Dorton
1934	Richard Baugher
1935	William Crites

"AIREDALES"

Seated, left to right: Fulton, Cooper, Ervin, Wunderlin, Morris.
Standing: Jenkins, E. Risinger, Coach Good, R. Risinger, McDaniels, Cain.

CLYDE FULTON—Forward

"Lefty," with his deceptive, left-handed shot, has accounted for many Old Gold and Black points, during the last two years. His loss this year, "via" graduation, will be greatly felt.

EDWARD RISINGER—Center

"Ed's" game seems to be "tip-off" and "tip-in," both of which he does with exceptional accuracy. Ed, a junior, was placed on the all-sectional team this year.

MILO JENKINS—Floor guard

"Jinks" had a cool, deliberate style of playing ball which completed a well-balanced squad. His position will be hard to fill next year.

FRANK WUNDERLIN—Back guard

"Hank's" consistency in retrieving the ball from the bankboard seemed to typify the fighting spirit of our Airedales. For his outstanding work in the tournament, he was awarded the honor of all-sectional guard. He has one more year to play.

HOWARD ERVIN—Forward

"Boze" will be with the team next year. His basket-eye, coupled with his defensive ability, makes him a valuable player.

ROBERT RISINGER—Forward

"Bean" was the tall man of the team this year. His accurate eye, combined with his height, makes him a dangerous man under the basket. He will be graduated this year.

RALPH COOPER—Forward

Ralph, a senior, did not have many opportunities to play this season, but when called upon, showed he could deliver the goods.

BERNARD CAIN—Guard

"Sugar" played most of the year with the second team, but saw some action with the varsity. He is a sophomore and should furnish a great "punch" for next year's team.

ROY McDANIELS—Center

"Mac's" height and speed should be a valuable asset to next season's squad. He is a sophomore.

MARION MORRIS—Forward

"Med" should develop into a valuable varsity man, as he is only a sophomore.

The 1935-36 Airedales, handicapped by the loss of the new gymnasium, were forced to play the scheduled ten home games in the Maytag Gym at Upland. The loyal Hartford City fans traveled the seven miles many times to see the boys ring up brilliant victories.

Despite all handicaps, the home-less Airedales, under careful guidance of Coach Good, turned in a fine record of 15 wins and 5 losses.

SEASON'S HIGHLIGHTS

1935

37 Hartford City at Upland 17

The Airedales started the 1935-36 season by topping the Upland Highlanders in an easy fashion.

59 Hartford City at Montpelier 20

Traveling to Montpelier, the local lads won a sweeping victory over the Pacers.

16 Dunkirk at Hartford City 30

Out for victory in this game, the Speedcats battled the Dogs to a tie the first half; however a last-half spurt yielded the much needed victory.

34 Hartford City at Alexandria 29

* In a thrilling game that was tied several times until the final minutes, the Airedales finally came through on the long end of the score.

29 Berne at Hartford City 27

Felber sank a field goal in the last minute of play to give Berne a two point decision. Too much fouling caused our downfall.

27 Hartford City at Muncie 19

The scene of the next game was at the Muncie Field House with Coach Jolly's Bearcats. The Airedales, working with machine-like precision, led at every intermission period.

18 Bluffton at Hartford City 20

Fighting a defensive game for three quarters, the boys made a thrilling, last-minute comeback which netted them the victory.

20 Pennville at Hartford City 35

The sectional champs of last year were forced to go home on the short end of the scene after a thirty-two minute rout.

30 Columbia City at Hartford City 33

The two "City" teams met, with Columbia City hold the upper hand at the half. But that ever welcome last-half comeback gave the 'Dales the necessary points.

22 Hartford City at Newcastle 36

Airedales journeyed to Newcastle to suffer a severe loss at the hands of the Trojans.

SEASON'S HIGHLIGHTS

1936

26 Hartford City at Central - Ft. Wayne 47

Bad passing, and inability to hit from under the basket, cost us our second consecutive defeat.

22 Kendallville at Hartford City 38

Hitting their stride as in previous games, the team came back in the win column at the expense of the Comets.

44 Huntington at Hartford City 46

Having played two overtimes, the Vikings sailed home leaving the bacon for the Hartford City fans.

24 Hartford City at North Side - Ft. Wayne 31

In our second straight Fort Wayne defeat, the Airedales took it heavily on the chin, as the Red Skins won in a last-quarter spurt.

25 Hartford City at Peru 23

Another victory was collected at the Circus City after the Airedales had again battled in a hectic, overtime period.

21 Hartford City at South Side - Ft. Wayne 28

The "jinx" again met us at Fort Wayne. The Airedales were beaten after a close first half.

31 Decatur at Hartford City 42

The Old Gold and Black won a free scoring game from the Yellow Jackets in the seventeenth game of the season.

26 Marion at Hartford City 33

Playing a professional brand of ball, the local boys took the measure of the Giants in a well-fought game.

24 Central - South Bend at Hartford City 58

A fast driving attack that knocked their opponents cold netted a top-heavy decision for the Airedales in their last home game of the season.

39 Hartford City at Auburn 35

The Airedales brought the season to a close with a spirited win from the Auburn Red Devils.

Sectional Tournament

(PORTLAND)

Portland played host to twelve teams March 5-6-7 for the sectional tournament. Hartford City, the picked favorite, was eliminated in the semi-finals by Ridgeville, who defeated Madison to become sectional champs.

BASEBALL

Second row: Coach Dick, Owens, Storer, Tipsord, Carll, Ervin, Barnes, Haas, Hogan, Johnson and Student Manager Woolard.

Ending their 1935 spring campaign by winning the N. E. I. C. tournament which was held at the Hartford City diamond May 25, 1935, the Airedales went on to enjoy a very successful fall schedule. The latter part of the fall season was marked by the appearance of a new coach, Don Dick, who filled the position left vacant by the resignation of H. Paul Cly. Under the direction of Coach Dick, baseball should continue to be one of the high school's major sports.

CHARLES WILLIAMS

The passing of "Jack" Williams, a most enthusiastic and personable young athlete and a star hurler for the team, deeply affected the entire student body. Since he was only a sophomore, a brilliant future in high school athletics confronted him.

TENNIS

Left to right: Fulton, Baker, Risinger, Brandt, Carll, Overmyer, Leonard, Ervin, Robson, Henley, Coach Crouse.

This year under the supervision of Mr. Crouse, tennis was added to the list of sports.

Although late in getting organized, two matches were played in the fall with the Dunkirk High School; and while both were lost, much interest was manifested in this sport.

Since there is no track or field program of athletics in the spring, tennis is expected to vie with baseball in interest. With the building of two fine courts in the city last fall, better opportunities for both practice and scheduling home meets are forthcoming, and it is probable that tennis will become a major sport in the future.

SWIMMING

H. L. Crouse, coach, Max Trussell, James Charnley, Oliver Houseman, F. E. Houseman, John Jones, Fred Hogan.

Hartford City High School, having one of the finest pools in this part of the state, has developed several strong swimming teams. The pool, ranging in depth from three feet to nine feet, is sixty feet long and twenty-one feet wide.

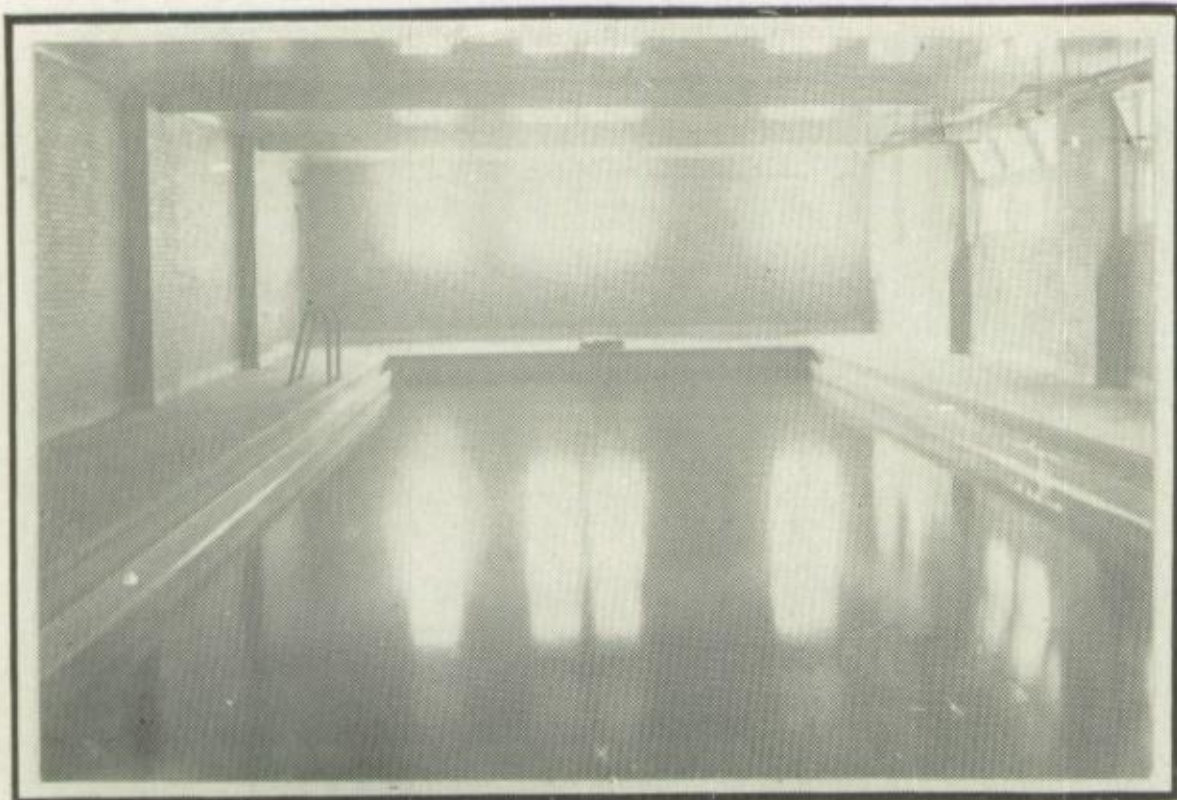

The varsity swimming team this year, under the direction of H. L. Crouse, has held two meets with Marion.

The initial meet, "thrashed out" in the Y.M.C.A. pool at Marion, was won by the local splashers through a score of 30-21.

The fact that John Jones was injured and unable to participate in the next meet was partly responsible for our defeat, as Marion won the return contest held here 29 1-2 to 27 1-2.

Prospects look bright for next year's squad since only one man, Max Trussell, will be lost by graduation.

THE OLD SWIMMIN' HOLE

1. To whom does the trophy belong, Mr. Good? 2. "Charlie" the 1936 ping-pong champion. 3. Betty and Martha Ellen, our yell leaders. 4. Blues, senior league champs. 5. Airedales 27 and Bearcats 19. 6. INTRAMURALS

Boys'

Boy's intramural sports were under the direction of Don Dick. A varied program offered basketball, volley-ball, boxing, horse shoes, tennis, ping-pong, shuffleboard, and checkers. Of these perhaps basketball was most outstanding. Two leagues, Junior and Senior, were formed. Each league, in which the round-robin system of elimination was used, was composed of eight teams of seven men each. The competition was keen in both leagues with the Blues winning the Senior league honors and the Whites topping the Junior league. Bob Smith, star forward for the Blues, was high scorer in the Senior league with 130 points, his closest rival being his teammate Max Owens, who scored 121 points. In the Junior league, Max Wagner, center for the Green team, won highest scoring honors with a total of 147 points.

A noon league, composed of country boys, was organized to play scheduled games during the noon hour. The Tigers won in a close race with the Cubs.

With over 120 boys participating in this popular sport, one can look forward to a strong varsity squad in the near future. Under Mr. Dick's careful supervision, the boys were taught the fundamentals of good basketball.

Personnel of the winning teams in the three leagues:

The annual inter-class basketball tourney included teams formed by each class from the 9B to the 12A inclusive. The 11A's copped the title of "Inter-class Champs" for the year 1936 by defeating the 10B's in the finals by a score of 18 to 10.

In the first round the 9A's eliminated the 9B's by a score of 31 to 19. In a hotly contested tilt the 11A's won over the 10A's 14 to 12. This game was a very interesting one and many students were present to back their team.

The 12A's won from the 11B's on a forfeit. In the fourth game of the tourney, the 12B's were defeated by the 10B's by a score of 14 to 12.

The semi-finals found the 11A's winning from the 9A's, 14-13, and the 10B's upsetting the tourney favorites, the 12A's, 14 to 10. The 11A's were "hot" in the final game and had little trouble in clinching the title.

The members of the winning team are: Captain John Claytor, Walter Langdon, Bill Hildebrand, Norman Clamme, Herbert Cornuelle, Eugene Ford, Charles Woolard, Bob Baker, Kenneth Parker, and Bernard Frazier.

Ping-pong was popular as an indoor sport again this year. Twenty-eight boys took part in the annual tournament held in March in which Charles Jenkins, runner-up last year, defeated Sam Chick in the final game to win the championship.

Girls'

High school girls meet every Friday at four o'clock P. M. for an hour of games, exercise, and fun. At the beginning of each new school year, captains are chosen for the different teams. A period of six weeks is allowed for the study of each sport. Baseball is scheduled in the spring, volley-ball and volley-ring tennis in the fall, and basketball in the winter. Some groups play ping-pong, while others participate in races or practice tennis. Swimming is enjoyed each Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock and non-members are invited to join.

Miss Kelley explains the rules of all the games, judges them, keeps score, and teaches the girls to swim.

The first attempt toward presenting an exhibition was made at the school exhibit last year. Clogging, boxing, and games such as leap-frog, human croquet, baseball, dodge-ball, and kick-ball were displayed. For added activities in the spring, the group plans to have roller skating, hiking, and bicycling.

The following officers for the G.A.A. were elected for this year: president, Miriam Moler, vice-president, Thelma Fulton, secretary-treasurer, Betty Bennett.

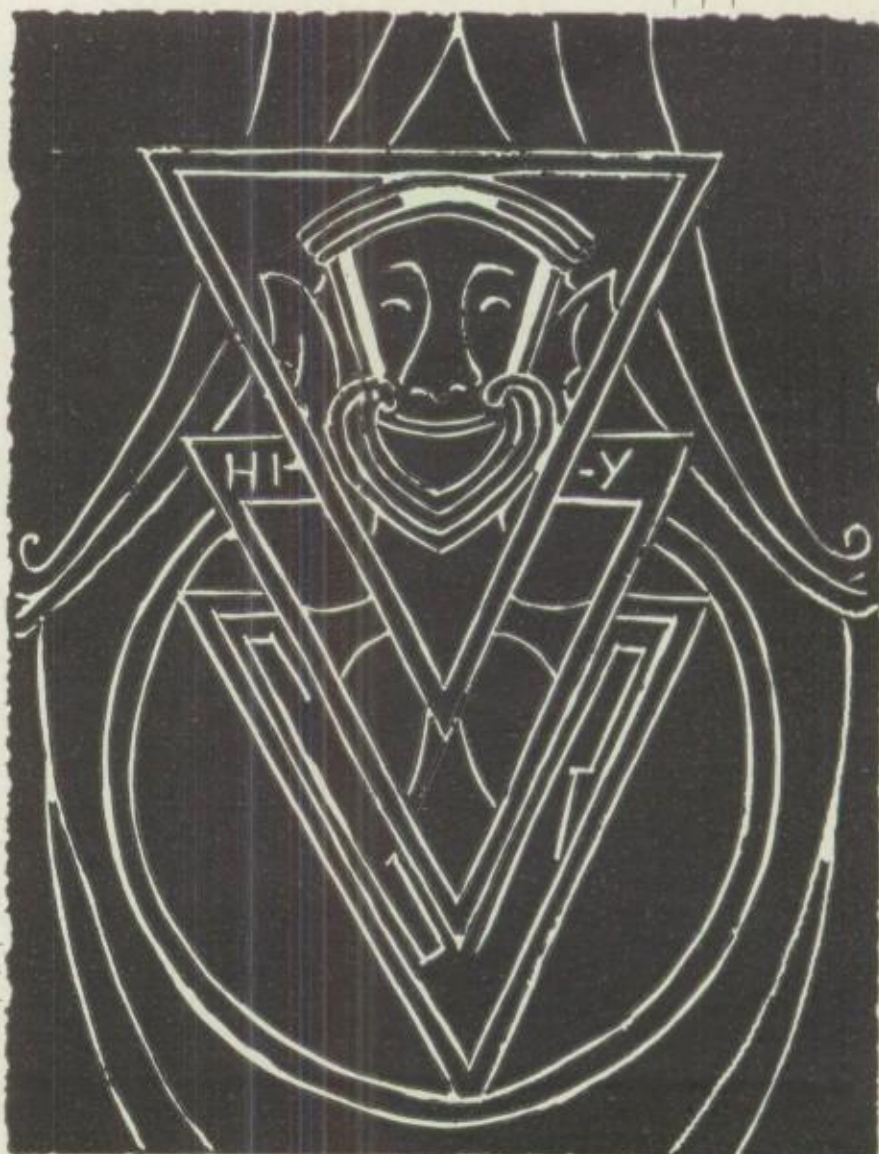

It is obvious that all these sports and exercises for both boys and girls have their physical advantages. Nearness to the playground and athletic field, together with an excellent swimming pool enables all students to get the most from an intra-mural program.

The Hi-Y Club has been exceptionally outstanding in its activity this year, and has carried out a fine service in promoting a wholesome attitude among the boys of the school. As a project this year, the group sponsored the printing of programs for basketball games. An affiliation with the state Hi-Y organization and its activities was secured again this year. Much interest was manifested, and several discussions as to the Hi-Y standards were held.

During the year, and aside from the regular routine, several prominent business and professional men of the city addressed the club. Moving pictures were also used to an advantage in providing enjoyable programs.

At the beginning of the second semester ten candidates were inducted into the membership of the club at a very impressive initiatory ceremony. A banquet for the "best girls" and the installation of new officers composed the social activities for the year.

The Girl Reserves Club, under the leadership of the sponsors, Miss Pearson and Miss Harter and their president, Miss Patricia Bray, enjoyed a very progressive year.

Programs were given by different members at the club meetings held throughout the year. Entertainment included the telling of stories and poems to illustrate points in the girl reserve code, singing by individuals and the entire group, and discussions of problems which girls have to face. At one meeting at which the mothers were guests, a play was the chief item of entertainment. Miss Telle gave an interesting talk on etiquette at another meeting.

At Christmas time the students made dolls to be distributed among the poor by the American Legion.

Plans for various parties were made by the members and carried out very successfully. The girls are planning for a larger membership and many more successful activities next year.

The Science Club, having been inactive for several years, appeared the last semester as a new organization. Much interest in the new club was shown by the students. The membership of which there were forty members, was comprised of students from the biology, chemistry, and physics classes.

The purpose of the club is to help students to realize the importance of science as a necessary item of present day life.

At the meetings, many interesting topics were discussed; several demonstrations and reports were given.

Because of the unlimited possibilities of the club, much more success can be anticipated for the next year.

Freshmen whose six week's grades were 95 or above, sophomores whose grades were 90 or above, and juniors and seniors who were either taking Cicero or had taken Vergil, were eligible to be members of the Latin Club. An average of about forty-five members was maintained.

The meetings were held once a month; and the programs, which were varied, dealt with a study of Roman mythology, monumental Rome, and the private life of the Romans. A special Christmas program and "carry-in" was enjoyed.

Together with the Dramatic Club, the Latin Club presented two short plays, "Pyramus and Thisbe," and "The Three Magi."

Pins awarded annually by the club, were given to county winners in the Latin contest.

The Dramatic Club, with an average attendance of twenty-five members, this year, met each Monday afternoon at four o'clock.

The work of the organization consisted of the study of one-act plays, impersonation, dramatic sketches, and special discussion of topics found in the magazine, "The High School Thespian," a national publication for high school people interested in dramatics.

Among the plays produced were "Isabel" by Babette Hughes, "Black Magic" by Thelma Duncan, "Saturday Market" by Louise S. Perry, and "The Thief" by Clare J. Denton.

At Christmas time, there was a party, with a gift exchange as one of the main features. Following games and refreshments, the thirty-five members present enjoyed dancing.

During the second semester, there was another party and dance. In the spring, an evening's entertainment was presented at the William Reed Auditorium, and the annual picnic of the club was held.

The orchestra has been a well balanced organization this year. Under the capable direction of Miss Nesbit, music supervisor, it has progressed steadily. This group assisted successfully at several school and public entertainments; among them were the senior class play and baccalaureate and commencement exercises.

Miss Nesbit also directed the glee club. This organization functioned at the graduation exercises at the close of school.

JUNIOR BAND

Director Mr. Lucas
 Assistant Director Sam Townsend

The junior band, having been organized last year, was quite a "finished" organization this year. The group plays an important part in the school life, since it trains musicians for the larger senior band. The efforts of Mr. Lucas to develop such a band have been highly praised.

Mrs. Kluck	Martha Gardiner
Gertrude Finch	Bernadine Wassam
Mrs. T. Ashington Finch	Patricia Bray
Depression	Justine Burk
Artemus Burke	Robert Lamott
Danny Siletto	Bob Pursley

SYNOPSIS OF THE PLAY

The action of the entire play takes place in "One Mad Night," and what a crazy night it is! Don Cutter, a playwright, accompanied by Wing, his proverb-quoting Chinese valet, goes to the Cutter mansion, a lonely house in the hills, to complete his latest play in peace and quiet. The house has been deserted for years, and it has the reputation of being haunted. Don finds the house tenanted by a number of very strange people, including lunatics. They are under the care of Dr. Bunn, whose home nearby has burned down. They are really quite harmless, but Don doesn't know this. Among the inmates is Lucille, a beautiful girl with an amazing story of persecution and intrigue. Like a true Lochinvar, Don is just about to ride to her rescue when his fiancée and her mother put in an appearance with their maid, Depression. From this point, everything happens, including talking ghosts, screaming women, disappearing guests and, for a climax, the appearance on the scene of an escaped murderer fleeing for his life. Don succeeds in rescuing the lovely Lucille from a sinister fate only after a series of thrillingly funny escapades.

Nina Lorraine Melva Doris Brinkley	Mrs. Parks Esther Huggins
Arabella Ardyth Isenhardt	Harvey Jackson Donald Girod
Em Mary Reish	Mr. Brewster Walter Hollis
Mrs. Rollins Maxine McCaffrey	Mr. Fisher William Henley

SYNOPSIS OF THE PLAY

Ned Rollins, a connoisseur of oranges, with ambitious inclinations toward fame and fortune through his idea of crossing an orange and banana to the end that the orange would be self-peeling, believes himself to be in love with the French songbird, Nina Lorraine, whom he has never seen but whose photograph he cherishes and whose radio programs he never fails to hear. Ned neglects his attractive young friend, Marjorie Parks, who lives next door and who unwillingly accepts the attention of Charley Pearson, a real estate man who boards with the Rollins.

When Nina Lorraine visits Clarksville, it is Aunt Em who "suspects," and her ability to "remember faces" brings out the story of Sarah Smith, of Cincinnati, who after the death of her young husband, leaves her baby daughter with a neighbor, to go on the stage to pursue her vocal career.

Aunt Em's suspicions are well founded, for she proves that Miss Lorraine is Sarah Smith and that Marjorie Parks, the girl next door, is Nina's daughter and that Mrs. Parks has used the money Nina sent for her daughter, for her own pleasures, and had been unkind to Marjorie.

Harvey Jackson, Miss Lorraine's manager, and who in the end turns out to be her husband, offers Ned a nice sum of money for his self-peeling orange, and parallel developments include the revival of the Rollins laundry business, the identity of Marjorie as Lorraine's daughter, the engagement of Marjorie and Ned, all of which brings the production to a happy end.

SENIOR PROPHECY

June Gilbert and Betty Wilkinson, star reporters for the Prairie Junction MONTHLY JOURNAL, were assigned to interview a French scientist in New York. The lucky girls, foot loose and fancy-free, packed up and left for the big city.

After getting lost several times, they finally found themselves on the 175th floor of the Apollo Building in New York City. They knocked on the door of suite 16; the door was opened, and they were greeted by a middle-aged man who wore a short beard and a mustache.

Despite the camouflage, the girls knew the doctor immediately and exclaimed, "Why you are Louis Guignard, who was graduated with us in '36'!"

Since they were old friends, it was no task at all for the girls to find out all about the doctor.

"I have invented the most amazing invention ever created. Shall I demonstrate it for you?"

"Yes," eagerly cried the girls.

The doctor seated them in a hollow sphere. He began to move the numerous levers on the sides of the sphere; he pressed a button. The result was an explosion so terrific that the girls lost their false teeth, and the doctor lost his mind.

The machine stopped when the altimeter showed STRATOSPHERE 35 miles.

"Now comes the great invention," the doctor said, as he began to work the dials at his side. "I will transform the cosmic rays of the stratosphere into a magnetic radio-active ray, which I have named the YZ Ray. It will show on this radio screen what anyone is doing today. What would you girls like to see?"

"Let's see what our old classmates are doing," said the curious June.

After working several cosmic condensers, the scientist said, "Conditions are perfect. Let us proceed."

The information revealed was as follows:

After many years of penny-pinching, Davie Buckles has succeeded in establishing the Buckles Better Bughouse for Dogs and Cats. Martha Gardiner is the pedigreed nurse, who cares for the flea-bitten creatures; Justine Burk embalms the unlucky patients who fail to survive the treatments.

"Steve" Leonard has become a famous bookkeeping teacher. He inherited his technique from a former teacher. Consequently Steve's favorite expressions are: "As a matter of fact," "theoritically speaking," "to tell the truth,--"

Hildred Smith is famous for her ability to raise none other than "genuwine" Moscows imported from Farmland.

Betty Boop has found two instructors of her famous art. Helen Byrd shows her how she should roll her eyes; Bernadine Wassam tells her how baby talk should be talked.

Clayton O'Connell has finally been persuaded by Earl Tipsord, district chairman of the Farmers' Soy-bean party, to run as a candidate for mayor of Podunk.

After many years of correspondence through the aid of matrimonial bureaus, Maxine Barnes has found her O. A. O. (one and only), William Landon.

Pat Bray, an aged missionary in Africa, has been attempting to teach the cannibals how to eat peas with their knives. Why should you care how they eat, just so they don't eat you, Pat?

Dear little Betty Cooper is still single. It seems that one time Betty was asked for her hand, but she fainted. You know opportunity knocks only once.

Having been in the freshman class of Roll University for many years, Don Bedwell and Freddie Sprague have given up all claim to dear old Alma Matre. They have now taken up bull-fighting as a pastime.

John Parker was recently crowned champion corn--husker, but why shouldn't he have been? With such a willing little helper as Rose Crall, Johnnie should get someplace, someday.

Gilbert Sills, a prominent Blackford County farmer, recently celebrated his silver wedding anniversary, his wife being the once famous Hollywood celebrity, Lillian Dorton.

Charles Lord, former Hartford City pug, has succeeded in lasting two minutes under the terrific onslaught of Ralph O'Connell, another Hartford City resident.

SENIOR PROPHECY

A brilliantly lighted sign in Harlem reads, "Robert C. Canada, Inc. We specialize in all kinds of beauty work." Bob excels in permanent waving, while Louise Willman and Eileen Lamott cut one's hair to suit someone else's individuality.

Jean Frahm is the proud author of the famous book FUNDAMENTALS OF HELIOTROPISM of which as yet only one copy has been bought (by herself). Better luck next time, Jean.

Ralph Cromas is a second Henry Ford, except that he makes special pencils for bookkeepers. Ralph remembers how hard it was to find a pencil when Miss Baxter said, "Get paper and pencil, and we will take a few transactions."

Jess Landis, John Lannoy, and Carl Partlow have formed the Triple Entente street-corner quartet. It is rumored that they are about to present soon their own arrangement of the OLD GREY MARE on the northeast corner of the court-house.

Betty Jane Flynn turned out to be a fruit-grower on the Gobi desert. Her business, however, failed because the oversupply of June bugs ate the pear blossoms off the apple trees.

Dick Ducey, Bill Kunkle, George Hall, and Clayton Myers chose to go to Hollywood and try their luck. Their luck must be good, for Dick now doubles for Mickey Mouse; and Georgie writes the lyrics for Mickey's songs. Clayte and Bill have become two of Clark Gable's many understudies.

Martha Everett, when in disguise, is none other than Herlock Sholmes, a famous unafraid lady detective in New York's Chinatown.

George Elzey, district attorney, after having bribed the jury, has just won his first case for the state.

Donald Frazier is living at ease on the money he acquired when he broke the bank at Monte Carlo.

Wilma Futrell and Ferne Sills own and operate the Wilting Fern Florist Shop in Montpelier.

Joe Overmyer's Rough and Tumble circus is now appearing in the old home town. Several of his old classmates are on the payroll. Marjorie Johnston is the beautiful blonde, fat lady in the sideshow. Ralph Cooper fills the bill as sword-swallower, but Ralph swallowed a pin the other day and almost choked to death. Big audiences have seen Ella Mae Wentz, alias Rally Sand, do her famous dance with featherless fans. Dick Hall holds his U. S. A. (unusual snake appeal) in high esteem for those snakes surely love to wrap around Dick's arms. How he must have the snakes trained! Lefty Fulton is the tall, dark, and once handsome lion-tamer. The lions seem to go for him in a big way; he's all chewed up beyond recognition.

Bob Lamott has attained a spot in the business world. He is the soul owner of the celebrated movie house THE MATCHMAKER. John Noble is head usher. His specialty is finding girls a seat in some goodlooking fellow's lap.

It seems that Betty Williams is in sunny Hawaii trying to teach the native girls a thing or two on how "to sway with the breezes" (as if they didn't know).

Catherine Williams is well on her way to fame as one of the Glorified in Ziegfeld's Follies.

Max Trussel has won the loving cup (and he deserves it) for having finally succeeded in swimming Lick Creek, alone and unaided.

Virginia Wilson crossed the wide, blue main to Paris. She is now a famous designer of feminine costumes in a nudist colony.

Bob Marshall is an archeologist of some extinction or other. He has a collection of rare bones from amoebas to dinosaurs.

That motherly instinct prompted Bert Knecht to found an orphan's home. She teaches them to act "like they has had some fetchin's up."

Bill Howard has become a big-league pitcher with the Molly Mummified Mopslingers. Bill acquired the technique by flinging paper-wads in Miss Chalfant's fourth hour civics class.

Rut Williams's high ambition was to become the dictator of good old U. S. So far he hasn't even accomplished being "head" of the family. His wife rules the roost, so all Russell can do is cackle.

Milo Jenkins is now Houdini the Second, world's greatest professor of the blackest art (according to himself).

SENIOR PROPHECY

Marjorie Risley has gone right up the ladder of success; she is now personal secretary to J. J. Newberry himself.

Howard Clamme gives his customers a thrill by turning corners on one wheel. Howard is a taxicab driver.

Wild Bohemia claims Jean Hartup as its ideal of a perfect artist's model. Bob Overmyer, as the accomplished artist, can draw motion pictures. It seems that Jean is unable to remain motionless for long.

Bob McCombs got his name in the headlines of Roll's monthly paper as the man who refuses to send his nine children to school. He insists that teachers are a bad influence. Well anyway, he can have a baseball team.

At last Marjorie Townsend has her head above the clouds; she is a parachute jumper. Happy landings, Marjorie.

Mildred Telle was sentenced to serve two years for disturbing the peace while dancing the Continental. Judge John Spence, who is leading an anti-noise campaign, served the strict sentence. Judgie must be going to run for re-election or something.

Ralph Babbit may still be seen, at least three nights every week, wending his way down East Washington toward that stately but rambling Worley mansion. Helen should have made better use of all the past Leap years.

That clever little milk-maid, Lelsle Jones, has just put a new kind of milk on the market. It seems this milk is colorless, odorless, tasteless—and milkless.

Bob Pursley is still growing a beard so that he can take Uncle Sam's place when the old fellow ceases to be.

Frances Schwartzkopf, Gwen Nuttle, and Dorothy Markin have reorganized "The Night Crawlers' Club" in the east end and have put it on a paying basis for all concerned.

John Robert Sparks is a sergeant in the army. He tells them what to do; they have to do it. And how he loves that!!!

That old maestro, "Bean" Risinger, and his internationally famous "Bean Shooter" are planning to make a tour of Europe. Bob is to receive a check from the Kellogg Publishing Co., of which Junior is president, for composing that beautiful waltz, "Ride Um Around Again Lizzie." Don't hold out on an old pal, Junior.

The last picture faded from the screen, and the sphere began to descend slowly to earth again.

What a good story we will now have for the journal, exclaimed June and Betty simultaneously. "Thank you so much for the interview, doctor."
